BREAKING GROUND: Contractor Rod Thurston, MPP Chris Hodgson, Warden Ross Rabjohn, MP John O'Reilly, and architect Steve Carter were on hand November 3 for the sod-breaking ceremony for the addition to the County Building in Minden. The addition, a federal-provincial infrastructure project, is expected to be completed by next summer.

Move not approved by Minister

St. Joseph's says Minden hospital to close

by Andrew Milne

St. Joseph's of Peterborough announced last week it would be closing the Minden hospital altogether as of the end of November. The hospital would remain closed at least until the end of the fiscal year — March 1996.

The announced move, however, has not been approved by Ontario's Minister of Health Jim Wilson, suggesting the announcement is meant primarily to pressure the Ministry of Health (MOH) into making a decision regarding the facility. The MOH is expected to comment on the announcement early this week.

St. Joseph's board decided on the move at a November 2 board meeting.

The Minden hospital has been in serious financial trouble since the middle of the summer of 1995, when a critical shortage of doctors available to staff the wards forced St. Joseph's to bring in physicians from outside the community to keep the emergency ward open. The cost of doing so, says St. Joseph's, gutted the tiny hospital's $1.2 million annual operating budget.

St. Joseph's made public that it was considering closing the emergency ward at the end of September, but was told by the MOH that this could not be done without submitting a revised operating plan to the Ministry. St. Joseph's was able to reduce the operating hours of the emergency ward to 16 per day at this time however, apparently on the strength of communications from local groups which said this would be an acceptable minimum.

The understanding at this time seemed to have been that the revised operating plan would concern the period from the beginning of November onwards, and that St. Joseph's would submit the plans in time for the Ministry to make a decision at the end of October. As of the beginning of last week St. Joseph's had submitted the plans — the contents of which were not made public at the time. The MOH, however, has not yet ruled on whether they are acceptable.

Local political leaders who met with Minister of Health Jim Wilson late in October say they were given the impression the Ministry is delaying the decision until the provincial government can move on a general plan to ease the difficulty of staffing rural emergency wards across the province.

St. Joseph's has taken the position that they cannot continue to operate the Minden facility without financial assistance from the Ministry. The Ministry is generally however extremely reluctant to participate in such bailouts, in part because threats of such drastic actions have often been used in the past by hospitals lobbying for additional funding, sometimes rather cynically.

Paul Heffer is chair of the Acting Health Services Board (AHSB), a local group formed to take over responsibility for the Haliburton and Minden hospitals, from St. Joseph's, possibly as early as the end of the fiscal year in March. Heffer commented November 3 that should the hospital be allowed to close, the AHSB might have a great deal of difficulty getting it open again when they do take it over.

Heffer also expressed the opinion that St. Joseph's announcement, coming without MOH approval, was primarily a political move, or statement of intent from the Peterborough board.

Community frustrated

by Andrew Milne

Community reaction to a November 3 announcement from St. Joseph's of Peterborough that the Minden hospital would be closed as of December 1 has been one of frustration and concern.

Ontario Minister of Health Jim Wilson is known not to have yet approved such a move and St. Joseph's does not have the power to make such a move without the Minister's approval.

Members of the Acting Health Services Board (AHSB) and others aware of the situation have commented they believe St. Joseph's is attempting to pressure the Ministry, through the announcement, to come to a decision regarding the facility's operating hours, or perhaps to come forward with additional funding to cope with the small unit's financial crisis.

Anson Hindon and Minden reeve Jeanne Anthon said the people she talked to were "distressed and frustrated" at the announcement, particularly in light of the efforts to which the community has gone to solve the doctor shortage which led to

High school football

Undefeated streak ends

Complete dominance of the Kawartha West Senior High School Football League may have done more harm to the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School Redmen than good. The Redmen were undefeated in their league, earning a berth in the Kawartha Championship.

When the Redmen went to Peterborough Friday to take on Thomas A. Stewart Secondary School (TASS), they hadn't faced that calibre of competition this season.

The Redmen weren't outclassed by the competition, in fact, they held a 7-3 advantage early and remained in contention throughout the game. When it was over, TASS was in front by a 17-7 margin.

"We tried our hardest and they tried their hardest," said Redmen coach Gary Brohman. "There can only be one winner. They played better than we did on that day."

Brohman added that it was a good, knock-'em-down, old fashioned type of game.

TASS opened the scoring with a field goal, but the Redmen responded with a touchdown to take a 7-3 lead. Aaron Tomlinson ran it in after taking a 14-yard pass from Kevin Morissette.

Before the first quarter ended, TASS scored a touchdown. The 10-7 TASS lead remained through the second.

Haliburton's ace receiver Mike Bradley suffered a knee injury early in the third quarter. That not only knocked him out of the game, it put a serious damper on the Haliburton offense.

TASS added another field goal and two safety touches, while holding the Redmen off the scoreboard for the rest of the game.

Friday's contest was one game, winner-take-all. With no second chances, the loss of a key player or the smallest mistakes can mean the difference between victory and defeat.

The Peterborough team will represent the Kawartha region at the Central Ontario Secondary Schools Association (COSSA) championship.

New president optimistic

Guild finances 'doable'

by Andrew Milne

The new president of the Guild of Fine Arts says, a month into her term, the guild's financial challenges are already looking a lot less daunting.

Says Margery Cartwright, "We've got a good board and a lot of community support. I was quite surprised in fact by the support that came when I went to the annual meeting of the Chamber and various other groups. Their expressions of concern and interest and support were very gratifying, and I'm sure the rest of the board members have found that too. I think although the crisis seemed quite enormous when I took over, the main problem was really that a lot of the people who had led the guild up until now had just got tired... I think it's certainly doable."

Cartwright took over at the beginning of October. The former president, Claire MacLeod, ended out her term in June, and no one came forward at the time to replace her.

Mandy Newnham, the Guild's new administrative coordinator, says she feels the old administrators just felt they'd been doing their jobs long enough, and felt the time had come for some new blood.

Says Newnham, "It's been a matter of the same people doing it for a long period of time, and just needing some new energy in there. A big commitment is required to take on this position and so the people that have been doing this work for some time all felt it was time to shake things up, get somebody new in."

Cartwright says the biggest challenge the Guild is facing now is that, like many publicly funded agencies, they are facing funding reductions. The Ontario Crafts Council, funded under the Ministry of Culture, Tourism, and Recreation (MCTR), has had to reduce their contributions to the guild, and warns more cuts can be expected in the future.

But, she says, she is confident the Guild will meet the challenge. The crucial challenge, keeping the Rail's End Gallery going, she says, isn't really so daunting. She also notes that the Guild still has room to move, since the cuts aren't really going to be felt until well into next year.

Says Cartwright, "We have to look at our mission statement and goals and see how we can manage to keep the Rail's End Gallery going... That's essentially the job of the Guild, to keep the Gallery going, to support the local artists, to provide stimulation and education for the community and for the artists that live here."

Cartwright, a professional potter, has lived in the Haliburton area since moving here from London in 1993. She has served as chair of the Urban League of London, a federation of community associations, and has been president of the board of directors of a second stage housing project for battered women.

The Gallery reports the most recent funding reduction from the crafts council saw an expected $8,000 grant reduced to $4,781. At average levels of funding until now, the Guild generally received around $15,000 annually from the council. The expenditures budget of the gallery is around $169,000 annually, much of which is funded by donations and fundraising.

Hospital

Said Heffer, "Personal opinion, speculation is that their position has been that they cannot be put in a deficit situation which exists in Minden, which isn't of their doing, isn't of their planning, and that unless the Ministry responds with some money that they cannot be told to go into a deficit situation to keep the operation viable. That's what it means... They have taken a stand that they will not allow themselves to go into a deficit situation. I think myself we are being played as pawns in a situation between the Ministry and St. Joseph's."

Doug Campbell, a member of the AHSB who was present at the board meeting November 2, expressed a similar opinion, and was sharply critical of the move.

Said Campbell, "In my opinion it's irresponsible. No matter how much they say oh they're in the hole, they can't do this, they can't do that, you don't just kick loose 12,000 people."

The Ministry was informed of the decision at about the same time as the media, November 3. Campbell says his understanding is the Ministry will be responding to the announcement early this week.

Shooting victim considers civil suit

Vic Jones, a man shot by his neighbour in Minden this summer, says he is considering a civil suit against his attacker, Christian Dam.

Jones says he is also quite disappointed in the sentence Dam has received under criminal charges — two years minus a day in jail.

Dam shot Jones on the evening of August 7, as Jones and his companion Tracey MacDonald were returning to their residence just off Highway 35, south of Minden. MacDonald then wrestled the weapon, a .22 calibre rifle, from Dam, and ran off with it.

Jones, hit in the shoulder, was able during this struggle to crawl into his house and call the police. Dam fled to his house next door.

Jones was taken to Minden hospital, and then to Sunnybrook.

An OPP tactical team surrounded Dam's house, but attempts to establish contact failed. At dawn, they lobbed stun grenades, and stormed the house, finding Dam inside, bleeding from wrist wounds, self-inflicted, apparently during a suicide attempt.

Jones says he has never found out why Dam shot him. Dam pleaded guilty, he says, and his lawyer made no mention of motive.

Though Dam was originally charged with attempted murder, he plead guilty to a lesser charge — discharging a firearm with attempt to injure. Says Jones, "It seemed to me they made a deal before I even got involved in it."

Jones says he isn't sure yet what he's going to ask for in a civil suit. But it seems to him he should be compensated for the time lost at work, the stress, and the loss of the use of his arm, which, he says, still isn't entirely recovered.

Memories of Dover, liberation of Holland

by Andrew Milne

At Dover, the English channel narrows to tens of kilometres, and the German guns at Calais and Cap Gris, in occupied France, could reach across, pounding the coast, exacting a toll of civilian casualties, reducing Dover slowly to rubble.

The first shells landed in August of 1940, beginning a bombardment that would last four years and expend more than 2,000 shells.

In 1942, at an anti-aircraft station overlooking the cliffs of Dover — directly across the channel from the German war machine that had overrun Europe and now threatened Britain — was Cecil Rowe, 22 years old, from Toronto, Ontario.

On Remembrance Day, Cecil Rowe will remember Dover, Holland, and George Potter.

Says Rowe, "The shelling wiped out a lot of Dover. There were a lot of civilian casualties... There's no warning with the shells. They just land. A lot of them landed in the fields, but that's where we were. But it was the town that got the worst of it... All you hear is the whump when it hits the ground."

Rowe joined the Canadian army in 1942, at the age of 21, and became a member of the First Canadian Radiolocation Unit. He was one of the first to use the then brand new technology of radar.

The site at Dover was a British site — when Rowe arrived in England, the Canadians only had one radar set of their own — the unit he was trained on.

The Dover site consisted of a directional transmitter and receiver, connected by coaxial cables to four anti-aircraft guns. A long range display told the crew when targets were approaching, and, once they were in range, the operators would rotate the set to point at the target, until they got the strongest signal they could. The guns were rigged to rotate in synch with the radar.

The targets were German planes — bombers aiming at the site and at inland cities, and fighters which swept in hugging the waves, to stay under the radar.

"They had hit and run raids," says Rowe. "They'd come about 10 feet over the waves, then zip up over the cliffs and maybe shoot at a gun sight, or try to, then zip away... There was a whole pile of barrage balloons over the castle — Dover Castle was a headquarters. They were filled with hydrogen, so they'd shoot their tracer bullets into them and of course they'd go up in flames, and you'd see the cable drop."

Holland

Along with many who served in Europe, Rowe's story is a somewhat discontinuous one. He was in Dover for two years before moving on — becoming a member of the advance party in the liberation of Holland, immediately before the end of the war in Europe. He saw the aftermath of Arnhem — where allied troops landed 90 miles behind enemy lines — in a minefield. He remembers an area strewn with shallow graves for the bodies of the paratroopers who had been killed, their chutes, neither buried with them nor cut loose, serving as grave markers.

He remembers the Allies ladling out stew from 45 gallon drums to the starving Dutch people left behind when the Germans retreated — imagines he knows why the Dutch are still thankful.

During the advance across Holland, the anti-aircraft guns were re-deployed as field guns, against ground targets, since the German air force was no longer much of a threat. Rowe served here, and remembers being constantly on the move.

The artillery, he says, came only under occasional fire during the final push.

"It was mostly sporadic at us. They were running and we were chasing. The most we got was at Kleve right across from Emmerich on the Rhine River (on the border between Holland and Germany). While we were building bridges there, our guns would go down to the river edge at night and fire over into Emmerich. We had a few 88 shells come our way."

One gunner he knew, George Potter, died this way, he says — stray shrapnel from a shell.

Yes, he says, there was always danger.

"You never knew what was coming," he says.

This year, the 50th anniversary of the end of the war in Europe, he went to Holland to join in celebrations. While there he saw Potter's stone, in a cemetery filled with casualties of the war.

In all of what happened, he says, he never really thought much at the time about how odd all of this was — that he was 22 years old and fighting a war.

"You never seemed to think about it," he said. "The only thing you thought was that you'd maybe never get home, but we were starting to realize that the farther we were getting away from home the closer we were getting."

Food and toy drive

Dr. Janice Guthy and he staff of the Minden Chiropractic Clinic are sponsoring a pre-Christmas food and toy drive for needy families.

Dr. Guthy is asking her patients and those who are planning to visit her office, either as patients or friends of patients, to bring a non-perishable food item or a toy (in working order, with all the necessary parts).

Her office may also be used as a drop-off centre for anyone wishing to donate items for the drive. The office is located in the lower level of the Heritage Plaza (next to the IGA).

"This is an especially hard year for those needy families requiring assistance and if we all contribute just a bit of food each time we come in for our appointments, no child or adult will go hungry this Christmas," Guthy said.

Drug bust

A search warrant was executed by Minden OPP and Peterborough Crime Unit officers at a cabin in Glamorgan Township south of the village of Gooderham November 1 where a quantity of marijuana was being dried and processed.

Street value of the marijuana that was seized was estimated at $40,000. A firearm was also confiscated.

Arrested and charged with possession of a narcotic for the purpose of trafficking were Todd Boice, 32, and Donald Torrance, 32, both of Peterborough.

New Executive

The new executive of the Minden and Area Police Support Association was elected recently. The chair is Linda Lickiss. John Fountain is vice-chair. The secretary is Mel Killens. Joan Shaddock is treasurer and the patrol officer is Bill Stromberg. The association also has a new mailing address: P.O. Box 699, Minden, Ontario, K0M 2K0.Members of the new executive of the Minden and Area Police Support Association were on patrol Halloween Night. They are seen here at the Community Policing Building before going out on patrol. They are (l to r): Bill Stromberg, Joan Shaddock, John Fountain, Joan Lickiss and Mel Killens.

A political move

They prepared earnest, exhaustive reports; bound them most impressively, the better to consult them soberly and seriously, at a sober, serious meeting.

They held that meeting, spoke in measured, responsible tones, and cast their vote.

They issued a news release, and the contents reverberated through small communities told they were losing a hospital, at least for the time being. They called a staff meeting, and a handful of nurses and support staff, many highly dependent on the paycheque they draw there, bowed their heads, accepted that the decision had been made, tried to work out how they would tell others in this world to whom their lives matter.

They expressed grave regret and sympathy, spoke in regretful, chiding tones to an apparently ungrateful community unable to understand the complexities of their situation. They assured all who might listen that they had done all they could. No one, said St. Joseph's executive director Frank Lussing, wanted this to happen.

The picture here is one of decent, responsible, honest people, forced to an unpleasant decision by an ugly and unforgiving fiscal reality.

At risk of inviting charges of irrational bitterness, it simply has to be said:

They are nothing of the sort.

What makes this conclusion so inescapable may seem trivial, even unrelated to their conduct, without the time to think it through.

What makes this conclusion so inescapable, is that St. Joseph's board simply cannot do what they say they are going to do until the Minister of Health approves that move. And the Minister of Health, as the board's own release makes clear, has done no such thing as yet.

Why the release was issued is an interesting question. A number of theories, quite naturally, are already making the rounds. Most likely is that this is simply a curt reminder to the Ministry of Health that, until a decision is made, St. Joseph's will be spending money it has earmarked for other programs, on the troubled Minden hospital, and that the board does not like this one bit.

There is room for sympathy here. Certainly, the board has managed to keep the facility open in circumstances that are far from favourable. The argument that the board has done what it can deserves at least a nod, as does the argument that the board is being asked to do the impossible.

But all things considered, there is still no other conclusion possible than that St. Joseph's made this announcement as a political move.

Think about that one for a moment. A political move. A political move that tells people they're fired. A political move that tells communities already taut with anxiety that they are losing their nearby emergency ward.

The forces that led to the situation in which the board, the community, and the staff now find themselves are indeed complex. Determining who to blame is probably impossible, almost certainly pointless, if what is sought are solutions.

But this much simply has to be said, to anyone who would use a community's deeply felt fears and genuine needs so cynically, so callously as hostages in a political struggle:

This community deserves better.

A health care who's who

There are a number of players involved in the local health care system. As an aid to the readers' understanding, their roles are briefly explained here:

The Ministry of Health (MOH) — Created by the Public Health Act of 1882, the ministry is responsible for administering the health care system in the province of Ontario. Like all provincial ministries, it is bound to some extent by federal legislation, including the Canada Health Act, in what it can and cannot do. The ministry's role in the hospital system is technically limited to regulation, although, since it controls the lion's share of hospital revenues, it wields considerable power over hospital boards.

St. Joseph's Hospital and Health Centre of Peterborough — St. Joseph's is operated by a corporation — the Sisters of St. Joseph's — a Catholic order of nuns. Hospitals are globally funded by the Ministry of Health A global budget means the hospital receives a lump sum of money to allocate as it deems appropriate. The operations of the corporation are governed by a board of trustees which includes two representatives from Haliburton County.

Minden and Haliburton hospitals have been satellites of St. Joseph's since the mid-80s, when the Red Cross withdrew from the rural hospital business.

The District Health Council (DHC) — The Haliburton, Kawartha, District Health Council is a body created by the provincial government. Members of the council are appointed by order in council (the provincial Cabinet). Two members are appointed from Haliburton County. The DHC provides community inputn health care decisions by advising the MOH regarding such decisions as hospital closures.

The Community Advisory Committee (CAC) — The CAC was created by St. Joseph's. It includes members of the Haliburton County and area community (including politicians, health professionals and citizens at large), to advise the hospital board on community concerns regarding health care in the Haliburton area.

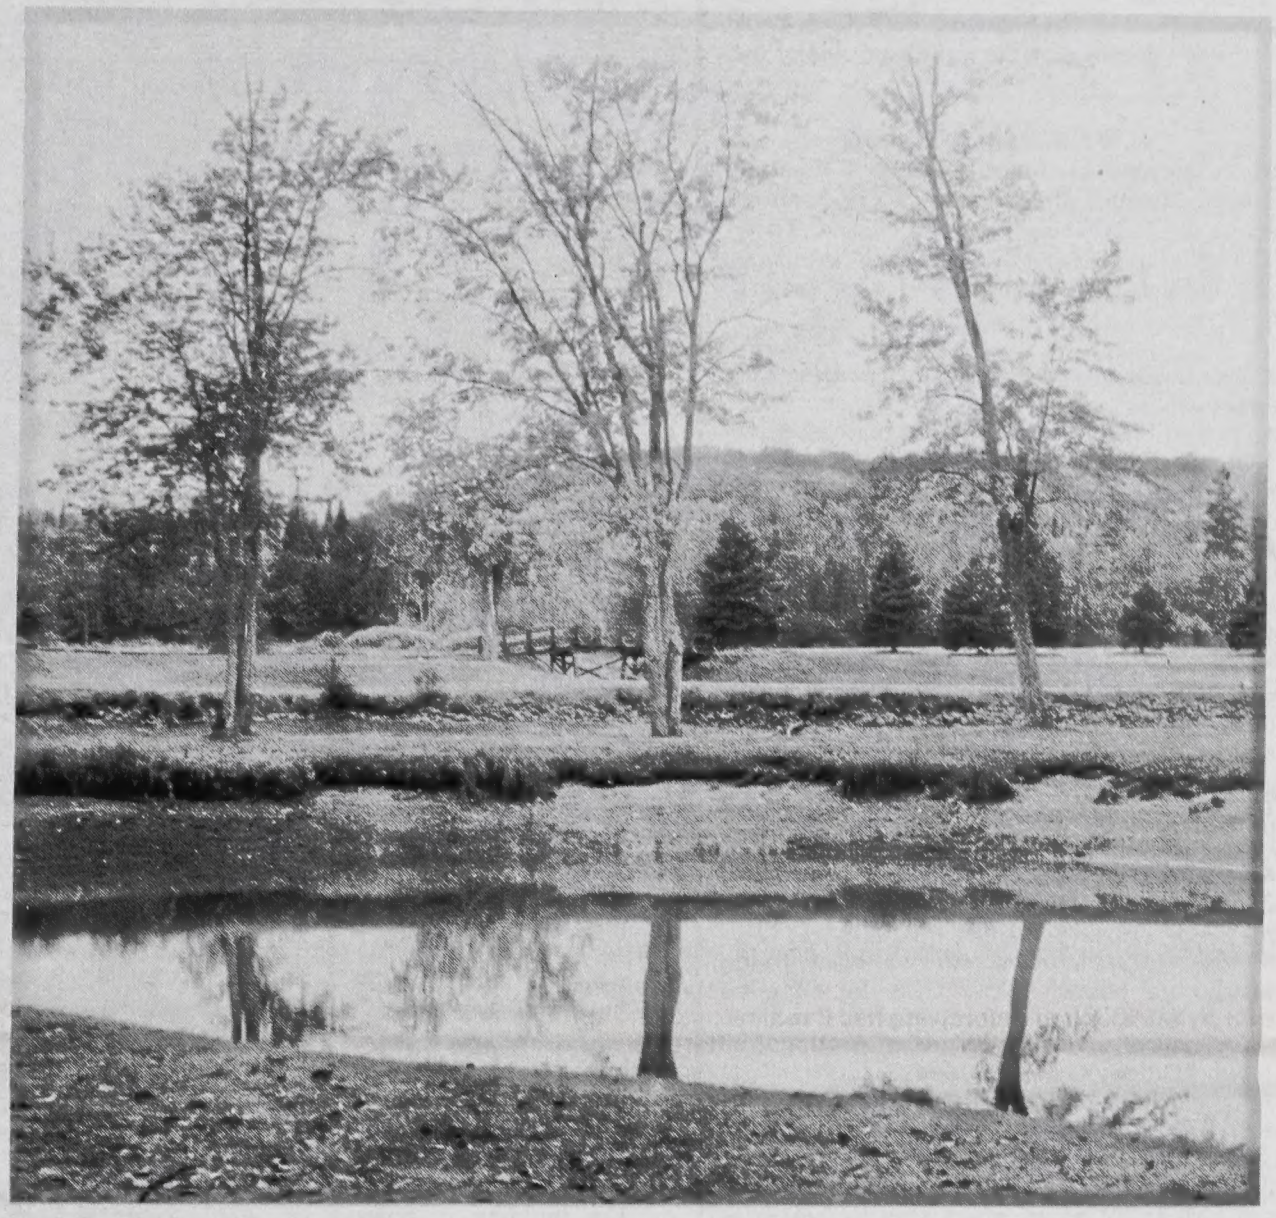
The Acting Health Services Board (AHSB) — The Ministry of Health, as part of its health care restructuring process, has been creating local boards in some regions. Currently a board with nothing to administer, the AHSB was created by the MOH (with the assistance of the DHC). The board's mandate has yet to be fully defined, but could include the co-ordination of health related services in Haliburton County and area. One responsibility the board is expected to assume is the management of the two county hospitals. The word 'Acting' in its title refers to the fact that the board is not yet incorporated — something that has to happen before the board can assume administration of the hospital facilities.

The Ontario Nursing Association (ONA) — The union representing registered nurses (RNs) in the Ontario hospital system.

The Canadian Union of Public Employees (CUPE) — The union representing registered professional nurses (RPNs) and other staff in the hospital system.

The Community Committee for Physicians (CCP) — A local grassroots organization working to recruit physicians to locate in the Minden area. It was formed from an ad hoc group earlier this year.



A moment in the limelight

Black 'n White

by Arthur Black

A celebrity is a person who works hard all his life to become well-known, then wears dark glasses to avoid being recognized.
Fred Allen

Ah, the things a guy will do to get his name in print. I have a nephew who made it into the National Enquirer by donning a bathing suit, diving into a dumpster full of manure and coming up with an apple in his teeth. My nephew could go on to win the Nobel Prize for Physics, invent a cure for baldness, even come up with a formula that would stop Quebec yapping about separate bedrooms.

Wouldn't matter. He'd still be the guy that did a one and a half gainer into a dumpster full of pig doo-doo.

There is a bible for fame cravers and it's called The Guiness Book of World Records. Every year, people around the globe come up with unbelievable schemes to get their name within its hallowed covers.

David Huxley made it this year. His feat? Pulling a Boeing 767 a distance of 203 feet, 10 inches along the Tarmac at an airbase in Sydney, Australia.

With his bare hands.

Mark Kenny of Norwood, Massachusetts used his hands to get into Guiness too. He drag raced on them. Kenny scampered 164 feet on his hands in just under 17 seconds.

The entire town of Hamar, Norway has a moment of glory in the 1995 record book. Hamarians made it by mobilizing the largest marching band in the world — 6,017 members strong, including 927 majorettes.

Ashrita Furman of Jamaica, New York holds the ultimate in Guiness honours: the record for holding the most records. His name has been entered in Guiness 30 times, all told. His latest "accomplishments": jogging 70.16 miles while balancing a milk bottle on his head, and also dribbling a basketball 83 miles in 24 hours.

You think I'm pulling your leg. You could look it up.

Then at the other end of the personal achievements scale, there is R. Parthasarthy. He too would dearly love to be in Guiness — and he's tried. Eighty-five times.

Swallowing 36 raw eggs wasn't enough to win him immortality in print. Neither was pushing a mustard seed backwards with his nose for 1,650 feet.

The chaps at Guiness have certain standards you know.

His last attempt involved eating two rose bushes in 90 minutes. Weird, but not weird enough for Guiness. Undaunted, Parthasarthy announced plans for his 86th assault, promising to eat 625 chillies.

Don't give up your day job, Mr. Parthasarthy.

It's kind of sad how some people will do anything to get recognized while others are practically born with their name in the limelight.

Take William Sidis. He was the child of a turn-of-the century Harvard professor of psychology who opted to turn his son into living proof that geniuses were made, not born.

He gave it a good shot. By the age of two, young Willie could not only read and write English and French, he could type in both languages as well. He wrote a treatise on anatomy at the age of five. At 11, he was admitted to Harvard and delivered a lecture concerning the Fourth Dimension that was 'way over the heads' of most of his audience.

Then William Sidis turned 12.

And dropped out of Harvard — dropped out of life, essentially. He spent the rest of his years working as a janitor, devoting his spare time to collecting street car transfers.

Moral of the story? I don't really know.

Unless it's that celebrityhood isn't all its cracked up to be. Remember the four most famous words spoken by one of the century's biggest celebrities?

Marlene Dietrich had it all. Fame, wealth, beauty, the adoration of any man (or woman) she gave a nod to. And what did she crave most?

"I want to be alone," she said.

NEW CHAMBER BOARD

At the recent annual meeting of the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce, a new board of directors for the coming year was elected. These are the individuals who will represent members interests and guide Chamber policy for the coming year.

- Connie Sims, Chair, owner of Chez Brun Bed and Breakfast
- Doug Mitchell, vice chair, sales representative with Bowes and Cocks Real Estate.
- Wayne Cowling, secretary, owner of Hart Lodge
- Chad Irvine, treasurer, Trillium Drilling and Blasting
- Bill Dewey, owner of W.R.D. Associates, a design company
- Peter Grikas, consultant from the Lake of Bays area representing the Dorset Ratepayers Association
- John Gunning, owner of County Commercial Printing
- Larry Tupling, co-owner of Silver Eagle Resort
- Bryan Brown, chair of the marketing committee, co-ordinator with the Haliburton County Development Corporation
- Marion Teatro, owner of Haliburton Hairdressing
- Keith McAllister, owner of Langford Canoe in Dorset
- Steve Crowe, Kawartha Dairy
- Warren Riley, freelance photographer
- Elva Bates, County Council representative

While the membership has entrusted them with this responsibility, all members are still welcome to become involved by volunteering to serve on various committees and task forces. If you are interested, contact the Chamber office at 286-1760. There are still two vacancies remaining on the board.

BIA MANAGERS

The Minden Business Improvement Area has announced that the position of volunteer manager has been filled. Recently the business organization went looking for a community-minded individual who was interested in helping to promote the downtown area and the Minden business community as a whole. From a number of applicants the association has selected former Times Editor Russ Duhaime and Gord Graham to share the responsibilities. The two will be working with the executive to promote the business community and assist the local merchants in taking advantage of existing events such as the Sled Dog Derby, Timberfest and Canada Day.

WELCOME

New owners have taken over the operation of the Skyline Auto Parts in Haliburton. Rolly and Dorothy Letourneau have sold the business to Jim Richards and his wife Jacquie. They have moved to the community from Mississauga with their two children Ryan and Carlee. The business name is now UAP Auto Parts. The business is located next to the Beer Store in Haliburton.

"If you don't look after your customers, it is a sure bet someone else will."

Officially open

Representatives from the federal, provincial and municipal governments snipped the ribbon to officially open the newly renovated and expanded Galway-Cavendish municipal office. They are (l to r): Hastings-Peterborough MPP Harry Danford, Victoria-Haliburton MP John O'Reilly and Galway-Cavendish deputy-reeve Peter Franzen. The $126,122 cost of the project was split evenly by the three governments

Galway-Cavendish office renovated

The addition to the Galway-Cavendish municipal office was officially opened with a special ceremony October 28.

Victoria-Haliburton MP John O'Reilly and Hastings-Peterborough MPP Harry Danford joined Galway-Cavendish deputy-reeve Peter Franzen for the official opening ceremonies at the office on Highway 503 at Kinmount.

The renovations reorganized office space, providing an expanded work space and a better environment for staff to improve efficiency of public services.

The building is now fully accessible to persons with physical disabilities. The $126,112 project was completed under the Canada/Ontario Infrastructure Works Program, with each partner (federal, provincial and municipal) contributing one third of the total cost.

"The main goal of the Canada/Ontario Infrastructure Works Program is job creation," O'Reilly said. "I am glad this project, which created an estimated 100 person-weeks of employment, contributed to a better quality of life for residents of the Townships of Galway-Cavendish."

"This project reflects how the infrastructure program benefits local residents," Danford said. "The building has been upgraded and the entire community will profit through improved services and facilities."

On behalf of the community, Franzen said, "The municipality would like to thank the federal and provincial governments for their financial assistance and co-operation on making this project possible. "I am sure that the public will be better served by the upgraded facility."

O'Reilly and Danford presented Canadian and Provincial Flags to the municipality on behalf of their respective governments. A plaque was unveiled and an official ribbon-cutting ceremony preceded tours of the facility and refreshments.

HHSS high school hockey home opener Tuesday, November 7, 1:30 p.m. at the Haliburton Arena vs. Norwood

Exhibition game ends in a draw

by Jerry Grozelle

Barry Shaw was really happy with his team's performance during an exhibition game in Gravenhurst on October 30. Shaw is the coach of the Minden OMHA bantam Monarchs.

"It was the biggest team we have played all year," Shaw said. "Especially number 12, who was over six feet tall.

"We played a great game against a good Gravenhurst team."

Shaw said the action was end to end right from the opening faceoff.

The first period was scoreless, with Shaw commenting that both goalies played "spectacular" hockey.

Minden opened the scoring in the middle frame with a goal by Dan Nielsen, assisted by Josh Shaw. That was the first of four times the Monarchs enjoyed a one-goal lead, only to see Gravenhurst come back to tie it up each time.

Gaten Davis notched the second Minden marker, from Gary Kernohan. With the score tied at 2-2, Justin Bull put minden into the lead for the third time, assisted by Shaw and Kernohan. By the end of the second frame, Gravenhurst was back on even terms.

The hitting picked up in the third period and both teams were flying. With five minutes left in the game, Jarett Rowden gave the Monarchs the lead once again. Bull and Shaw assisted.

Gravenhurst scored on a screened shot from the point with a minute remaining to salvage the 4-4 tie.

"We ended a great game with a tie," coach Shaw said. "The Gravenhurst boys were bigger and stronger but my guys are skilled; they have a lot of heart and they didn't back down. I was very happy."

Woodville 7, Minden 2

Three days earlier, the Monarchs went to Woodville for a league game, where the Minden boys were handed their first loss of the season.

"It was just one of those games," Shaw commented.

Minden 6, Beaverton 6

A game against Beaverton on October 21 in Minden saw the Monarchs play two of their best periods of hockey to date. Over the first and second frames, the Monarchs built a 6-2 lead.

By contrast, the Monarchs quit skating, hitting and playing aggressively in the third, allowing Beaverton to score four unanswered goals to salvage a 6-6 tie.

Scoring for Minden in the first period were Dan Nielsen, from Josh Shaw; and Jarett Rowden, unassisted.

Nielsen started the second period off with his second marker of the game, with Shaw and Trevor Woods assisting. Rowden scored his second of the game as well, from Nielsen and Shaw notched two. One of Shaw's goals was assisted by Kent Greer and the other was unassisted.

"We played our best hockey in the first two periods and our worst in the third," coach Shaw said.

Scott Hamilton, Jamie Dollo score five goals each

by Jerry Grozelle

The team that scored first in all three of the Minden Men's Hockey Association games on October 30 wound up on the losing end.

Hartwick 7, Times 6

The evening's opener saw The Times build a 4-1 lead at one point in the first half and at the end of the first period they held a 5-4 advantage. But Hartwick Construction rallied in the second half, outscoring The Times 3-1 to earn a 7-6 win.

It was the Scott Hamilton show for the Hartwick team. He scored five goals and assisted on one for a six-point night. Scott Nesbitt notched the other two markers and helped set up two. Dave Crego and Greg Hurley picked up two assists each and single helpers went to Bill Hogg and Dean Sisson.

Jamie Dollo also scored five goals in the game and assisted on the sixth, which was scored by Craig Crowe. His effort was in vain as The Times fell short. John Ballantyne, Jarrett Campbell and Dave Hounsell notched two assists apiece, with singles going to Ballantyne and Jeff Black.

Westside 7, KDD 4

Kountry Double D scored the first goal and last two goals of the evening's second game, as well as one in between. But it wasn't enough. Westside Jug City scored four times in the first half and three in the second to down KDD 7-4.

John Stephenson netted a pair of goals and assisted on one for the winners. Single markers were scored by Andy Campbell, Doug Schell, John Hewson, Kent Taylor and Kim Hamilton. John Walden helped the winning cause with two assists, with Campbell, Hamilton, Tom Haley, Hewson, Schell, and Paul Walker adding one helper apiece.

Tran LaRue scored twice for KDD and assisted on one of the others. The other snipers were Newfer Burke and Monty Miscio. Ed Gibbons and Spade Stamp had two assists each.

Stamp 7, Home 2

Home Hardware drew first blood in the evening's late game, but fell behind Sid Stamp Fuels 2-1 by the end of the first half. The Stamp crew dominated the second half, outscoring Home 5-1, cruising to a 7-2 victory.

Jeff Howe, Mark Thompson and Cary Gilligan netted two goals each for the winners, with Ivan Ingram adding one. Ingram, Howe and Scott Bailey each assisted on a pair of goals, while Thompson, Steve McCracken and John Teljeur had one apiece.

Charlie Teljeur and Ben Manuge each scored a goal and assisted on the other's marker for Home Hardware. Dwayne Warburton also picked up an assist.

Tri-County peewee hockey

Minden Monarchs beat Beaverton Blades 5-2

by Kim Emmerson

The Beaverton Blades came to Minden to face off against the Tri-County peewee Monarchs. The home town boys were sitting on record of one win, one loss and one tie going into the afternoon contest.

The opposing team wore white to throw our players off, but the trick didn't work. In fact, the Blades were not sharp at all as the Minden team won 5-2.

Minden had a guest appearance goalie in Alex Lyddiatt, brought up from the "farm" team atoms. He preformed well, showing his brother Ryan that he is a good goalie.

Matt McCord started off the scoring with a quick shot under the Beaverton goalie after getting a rebound from Kyle Robinson's shot. Jamie Doan continued his scoring streak, notching two goals. Doan's second marker was assisted by Lyddiatt. Brad Gauley also had a two-goal performance. His first was assisted by McCord and Robinson and the second by Robinson.

Special mention should be made of the players who helped keep the opposition to just two goals: Ryan Emmerson, Matt Hutchinson, Greg Kerr, Dennis Arbour and Tom Perrott.

New sponsor supports Minden Sled Dog Derby

The Minden Sled Dog Derby Committee welcomes Sleeman's Brewing and Malting Co. of Guelph, Ontario, as one of the sponsors of the Minden Techni-Cal Challenge, the world's largest limited-class sled-dog race. Sleeman's joins long-time race sponsor Martin Pet Foods of Elmira, Ontario, in supporting this outstanding annual event.

In the sled-dog racing world, there is no limited-class race more prestigious than the Minden race. With the largest purse for its category in North America ($25,100), a very challenging course, and superior organization, the event consistently attracts the best professional mushers from every part of the continent.

Sanctioning for the 1996 race, which will be held on January 20 and 21, has been granted by the International Sled Dog Racing Association (ISDRA).

This, combined with the race's consistent "Excellent" rating from ISDRA, ensures that race organizers meet ISDRA's high standards and put on an event that is safe for both dogs and mushers. Given that the dogs are among the top canine athletes in the world, their welfare is no small concern.

Now in its 12th year, the Minden Techni-Cal Challenge provides a great weekend for the whole family. The Main Street start and finish provide everyone with a front-row view of the action. In addition, spectators can visit the dog lot to look over the animals and talk with the mushers. "Catch The Drift", a song written and recorded by local musicians, will once again be the theme song for the entire weekend.

Tyke A Monarchs win two straight

Minden's tyke A Monarchs remain undefeated after devastating Fenelon Falls 14-0 October 28 in Fenelon. In two games, the Minden wrecking crew has scored 29 goals and shut the opposition out.

Jonathan Petch paced the Monarchs with five goals. Cody Mills scored a hat trick and Gavin Hicks notched a pair. Single markers went to Matthew Eno, Kody Smith, Sherri Walker and Travis Walker. Petch had one assist to go with his five goals and one assist also went to Hicks, Mills, Justin McKelvey and Sherri Walker.

The tyke A Monarchs played two home games on the weekend. Results of those games will be available next week.

Novices down Sunderland 9-4

Mark Fisher and Evan Kernohan paced the Minden OMHA novice Monarchs to a 9-5 victory over Sunderland on October 29. Fisher scored four goals and helped set up two more while Kernohan notched a hat trick and two assists.

Minden outscored Sunderland 3-1 in the first period. The second was even at two goals apiece and the third saw the Monarch add four to their tally, holding Sunderland to three.

Cory Simms scored a goal and assisted on two and the other marker was netted by Kolt Smith. Jason Lyddiatt picked up a pair of assists and David Petch had one.

Bantam Bs bow to Manvers

by Roger Hutchinson

The bantam B Monarchs played host to Manvers on October 28. The Monarchs started off well, but Manvers rebounded in the third period to grab an 8-3 victory.

Stephen Hutchinson opened the scoring for Minden on the first shift of the game, just 27 seconds into the opening frame. Shawn Casey assisted.

Manvers tied the score 36 seconds into the second period. Then, at the 1:54 mark, Mike Hamilton scored an unassisted goal to give Minden the lead again. The Monarchs made it 3-1 midway through the second frame on a picture perfect goal by Cam Neville, with a great passing play from Hutchinson and David Byrnes.

Late in the second, Manvers scored to cut the Minden margin to 3-2.

It seemed the Minden team lost steam in the third period and fell apart as Manvers went on to score six goals in the period and finished with a decisive 8-3 victory.

Officiating was 100 per cent better than games one and two, with only three Monarchs seeing the inside of the penalty box and four players likewise for Manvers.

Industrial accident

An industrial accident at Dudman Construction near the village of Burnt River on October 31 sent a 22 year-old man to hospital with a severely fractured leg and head injuries.

OPP report that Mark McNairn of RR#1, Dunsford was assisting with the installation of a snow plough harness on a truck when the accident occurred. The harness was suspended from the bucket of a front-end loader when a metal cross bar weighing about 150 pounds fell from the bucket, striking McNairn. He was transported by ambulance to Ross Memorial Hospital in Lindsay.

The accident is under investigation by the Coboconk OPP.

Man charged with assault, uttering death threats

Responding to a call from Haliburton Community Police Association personnel on Halloween night, OPP constable Mark Davis was confronted by a man wielding a baseball bat. Village police volunteers observed the man on the roof of a village store causing a disturbance. When constable Davis confronted the man, he threatened the officer with the bat. With the help of the police volunteers, Davis was able to subdue the man.

Robin Howe, 25, of Haliburton was taken to jail. He appeared in Provincial court in Lindsay the following morning, for a bail hearing. He was released, with orders to appear in court in Minden on November 15 to face charges of assaulting a police officer and uttering death threats.

Volunteer patrols

Community police volunteers assisted the OPP with patrols on Halloween night throughout the County of Haliburton, helping to keep damage by vandals to a minimum.

A window was broken at the public school in Dorset, the back wall of the Minden Post Office was splattered with paint and business establishments and cars were pelted with eggs throughout the county.

Police report that trick or treaters making the rounds did so safely and there were no reports of children receiving unsafe treats.

Ecotourism-related business focus of SSFC conference

Sir Sandford Fleming College will be holding a conference later this month on ecotourism-related business opportunities in Ontario.

Fleming's ecotourism professor, Al McPherson, says he hopes to encourage business people to attend.

Says McPherson, "We're trying to fill in the economic argument of what is ecotourism."

The value of the conference to someone in business, he says, is that "they'd know what ecotourism is and what it's supposed to be. They probably could come out of it with some ideas that they could use in the resorts and lodges — ideas like interpretative programs they could offer to clients. They would get some idea of what other people are doing as well in terms of ecotourism."

Ecotourism, as McPherson describes it, is a concept in tourism emphasizing experiences of local natural history or culture, emphasizing conservation, and generally favouring low-impact, small group or individual tourism rather than large impact mass market tourism. McPherson, an instructor in the very new ecotourism program at Fleming, believes the potential for such development across Canada and in the Haliburton region in particular is very promising.

Among others, the conference will feature Pam Wight, a tourism development consultant involved in the province of Alberta's landmark six volume study into ecotourism development. McPherson believes this conference may be the first of its kind in Southern Ontario.

The conference will take place from November 24 to 25 at the Haliburton Forest and Wildlife Reserve in the northern end of the county. Persons interested should contact the college at 457-2828.

Breanne Mansfield demonstrates her art for the Haliburton Women Teachers Association November 2. Amy Rosenberg also performed. Mansfield, Rosenberg, and Cheri Rivard attended the world championships of highland dancing in Scotland this summer. The HWTA had provided them with $300 to offset travel expenses.

November is a busy month at the Minden Legion

Service Clubs
by Allan (Cub) Conoyboare

Bonjour!!

November is upon us now and our Legion is extremely busy.

We are still open on Sundays from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m., with a nice afternoon offering of cards, darts, pool, prizes and draws, horse races, comradeship and fun. Members and guests are warmly welcome.

Bill Blyth's Friday Fish and Chips night has really taken off. We serve from approximately 5:30 p.m. until 7:30 p.m. with fresh, old-style fish, fries, home made type buns, tea and coffee for only $5 per person. Members and guests are invited to come out and enjoy.

Right after, we have darts, hosted by Keith Purdy and Larry McKenzie. For further information please call 286-1637.

Each month I usually have a profile of one of our members for this column. This month, we haven't received any reports, so there isn't one. With each portfolio submitted, we usually find out lots of interesting things that we didn't know before about our members. These special people have a lot of unknown secrets and surprises which helps to bring us closer to them and helps us learn what makes them tick.

Poppy Day is coming up, so when you see a Legionaire or a volunteer selling poppies on a freezing street corner, please support them generously. All the monies collected go to Legion work especially the veterans who made it possible for us to live and flourish in our great land, Canada.

Speaking of Canada, we have just finished with the referendum with the no vote eking out a minute majority. I was on the no side. We all can see that the big job now is to ensure our great country stays together. We should all realize, even though we do make blunders, we still live in the greatest country in the world.

Coming up

Grey Cup Day, Sunday November 19. Join us as we watch the game on TV and a huge pool for the winning team. We'll also be having horse races, draws and much more. Information is posted at the branch.

Minden ward important to northern Victoria

Said Anthon, "The residents in the area surrounding the Minden hospital have spent thousands of dollars and strived diligently for many months to find new doctors. Doctors indicated that they preferred a community-based medical clinic so the community purchased a private clinic to meet those needs."

Anthon also expressed frustration with the rumour she has been hearing that the situation is an issue of what Minden wants, as opposed to what Minden needs. It is a simple matter of fact, she says, that, should the ward close, thousands of people, especially in Northern Victoria and Peterborough counties, would abruptly find themselves up to an hour's distance from an open hospital.

Says Anthon, "The needs of the Minden service area have been well documented, based on population data and the proximity to a major highway corridor. There are those who want to insinuate that this is simply 'Minden wants'. I suggest those people read the Haliburton Directional Plan of 1991 and the Coulson Report of 1993 — the need for the Minden site is thoroughly supported by professional consultants."

Doug Campbell, a member of the AHSB commented that the decision taken by St. Joseph's seemed to utterly ignore the concerns expressed, particularly by Northern Victoria county municipal councils, over the service gap that would be left between the nearest hospitals in Haliburton and Lindsay. Ross Memorial in Lindsay, Victoria County's Council stated in a resolution urging the maintaining of 24 hour service in Minden, is already overcrowded, and cannot easily take any additional burden imposed by the closure of the Minden emergency ward.

John Huke, reeve of Somerville Township in Northern Victoria county, described himself as less than impressed with the announcement, a move he considers irresponsible.

"It's the same old game that St. Joseph's board is playing," he said. "But instead of playing their games in the back room, they're playing it in public with the public's lives. They'll kill somebody, and then they'll quit it. Nobody can close a hospital but the minister."

Huke says there has been some concern in Somerville over the announcement. "People are worried," he said.

Joint effort supports Medical Centre

Lions say thanks for financial assistance from other service clubs

The Minden Lions Club took advantage of a joint Minden service club meeting to express its appreciation to the other clubs in the community for their support of the Community Medical Clinic. Earlier this year, the Lions purchased the clinic and in the process acquired a $100,000 mortgage. While the clinic has received support from individuals and groups throughout the community, the other service clubs have also made major contributions to the effort. Lions Club President Brian Moore expressed his club's appreciation for their efforts and thanked the other clubs for making the effort a shared responsibility. Receiving certificates of appreciation were, from the left, Maurice Winterflood first vice-president of Branch 636 of the Royal Canadian Legion, Marg Prentice president of Kinettes, Lions Club President Brian Moore, Bill Roszell, president of the Rotary Club, Tom Prentice, past president of the K-40 Club and Glen Lyddiatt vice-president of the Kinsmen Club. Monetary support was also acknowledged from the Minden Lioness Club.

Resources available

Got a question or problem? Call the Info Centre

How often have you had to deal with a difficult situation or conflict alone and wished that there was someone you could talk to who has felt the same or had similar feelings?

If you would like to access a self help or support group, you can call a Self Help Resource Centre.

There are now Centres across Canada which maintain a list of self help groups. As well as group meetings, some of the self-help groups offer support by telephone, teleconferencing or through the computer, via the Internet.

If you would like to know how to access the Self Help Resource Centre nearest you, please give us a call at the Information Centre.

Have you got a question? Do you require support or assistance in accessing services? We can help. Contact your Haliburton County Information Centre Inc. In Haliburton the Centre is located on Maple Avenue in the Drag River Building, Phone 705-457-2733 Monday to Friday 10 a.m. to Noon. 1 to 4 p.m.

In Minden, Mondays only, the Centre is located in the Court House Building, adjacent to the Anson, Hindon and Minden Municipal Office. Phone 705-286-4100. Mondays only 10 a.m. to noon. 1 to 4 p.m.

Colourful addition

The Rotary Club of Minden has planted 25 flowering crab apple tress along the north shore of the Gull River. These are the first of 50 trees the club plans to put in place to add to the beauty of the river bank park. Purchased from Campbell's Garden Centre, the trees were planted by municipal staff after Rotarians helped set the first one in place. Proud Rotarians on hand for the planting included, from the left, Jerry Rome, Ron Gambell, Jeanne Anthon, Barry Cray and club president Bill Roszell.

Senior League

by Donna Wallace

Sorry for the absence. I was out of town for some time and promptly fell ill when I returned home. Hopefully, it won't happen again.

Monday started out with fitness warm-up followed by Residents' Council. In the evening the folks congregated for a few hands of euchre.

Tuesday morning Chapel Service was taken by Barb Trociewicz. Jean Cox played the organ. In the afternoon it was craft time. Folks made Hallowe'en decorations and crafts to be sold at our Christmas Gift Sale on December 2 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Don't miss it!

Wednesday morning was fitness again followed by a wonderful treat by the Happy Wanderers, a senior choir from Norland. They sang all sorts of music. The residents joined in for some numbers. Everyone enjoyed them so much and hope they will come back real soon.

Thursday morning the folks worked on raising their pulses exercising with Janice. The Wilberforce Legion Ladies held a lovely luncheon for the folks. It was birthday week. The ladies served a lovely cake in honour of the even October birthdays. Molly McCarthy was in to help the folks write to their pen pals. Londa Earle manicured nails for some folks.

Friday afternoon Eldon Deacon and Bill Payne provided music and song for the ever-popular happy hour. Many folks danced, others joined in song. It was a fun time.

The residents decorated the home with Hallowe'en ghosts, goblins and pumpkins in anticipation of the 250 children who would trick or treat.

Saturday afternoon Nancy Gayton entertained on the piano.

Sunday afternoon the folks met for their weekly reading. Chapel Service was conducted by Rev. Burgess on Sunday evening.

The Hyland Crest Auxiliary has asked me to remind you about their annual Christmas Tea and Bazaar on November 23 from 2 to 4 p.m. Hope to see you there.

We welcome a new resident to the Home. Harold Wright came October 19. Welcome Harold. We wish you a healthy stay at Hyland Crest.

Birthday greetings are extended to Mary Smith and Robina Thomas this week.

Hope the weather warms up for a while yet.

Nobel Prize winners point the way

Each year, Nobel Prizes are announced but are often too arcane for the public and soon disappear from view. This year though, the awards had special significance for environmentalists.

The Peace Prize was given to a remarkable physicist, Joseph Rotblat. He quit working on the atomic bomb for the Manhattan project and has devoted much of his life to warn of its dangers.

Rotblat's prize was appropriate in view of France's pursuit of its own nuclear agenda despite widespread condemnation. His recognition contrasts with the silence of Canadian politicians and scientific leaders on France's outrageous nuclear testing.

The Nobel Prize in chemistry went to three scientists who discovered the vulnerability of the ozone layer to human created molecules.

In 1970 Paul Crutzen observed that airborne nitrogen oxides could break down ozone. Then in 1974, Sherwood Roland and Mario Molina found that chlorofluorocarbons (CFCs), which were valued for their chemical inertness, could be split apart by sunlight to liberate chlorine, which is highly reactive and breaks down ozone.

Their report generated vigorous denials from the chemical industry, although the public responded by reducing the use of CFC-containing aerosols in the 70's. But it took the discovery of a "hole" in the ozone layer over Antarctica in 1984 to induce serious discussions to reduce CFC production. Few environmental issues are as clear as the CFC-ozone layer connection, yet CFC production will not be completely eliminated globally until next century. Meanwhile the World Meteorological Organization reports this year's thinning of ozone over Antarctica is more extensive and occurring faster than ever.

I take great vicarious delight in the award of this year's Nobel Prize in Medicine to fellow geneticists, indeed, fellow fruit-fly researchers. Their test animal, Drosophila melanogaster, has contributed as much to our understanding of heredity as any other organism, including ourselves. Press reports of the prize winners' work skimped on details and stressed the possible implications for understanding "some birth defects and miscarriages" from their work.

Reflections
by David Suzuki

But the studies deserve more explanation. All three geneticists were intrigued by the long-standing biological puzzle of how a nondescript blob, the fertilized egg, transforms itself into a complex multi-cellular organism made up of many different cell and tissue types which all act together in one functional fly or human.

Cal Tech's Ed Lewis is an elder statesman in an esoteric field called "chromosome mechanics" whose practitioners skilfully move genes from one location to another among the chromosomes.

As a wonderkind back in the '40s. Lewis demonstrated that genes are not the smallest unit in heredity but could be dissected into parts. He went on to show there are different kinds of genetic sub-units that regulate the activity of other gene parts.

In other words, there are switches that can turn genes on and off at different times in various parts of the body. Lewis demonstrated that major architectural landmarks of the fly's body - head, thorax, abdomen - are determined by special blocks of genes.

Princeton's Eric Wieschaus and the Max-Planck Institute's Christiane Nuesslein-Volhard combined traditional genetics and embryology with molecular methods.

Using mutations that act only through the female to affect the survival of the eggs, Wieschaus and Nuesslein-Volhard found that genes acting in the mother's ovaries predetermine top and bottom, head and tail as well as the destiny of cells to become gonads, muscles and so on.

These elegant experiments demonstrated once again the power of scientists to frame questions, design experiments and analyse data to penetrate Nature's mysteries.

The great strength of science is in description and we have far too little of it. With these insights, geneticists can do spectacular things such as raising flies with twelve legs instead of six, eyes growing in different parts of the body or a leg growing from the mouth.

Nevertheless, after billions of dollars spent on fruit fly research, we still don't know how they are able to survive winters, how an egg is transformed through larval, pupal and adult stages or how this species interacts with other species.

Drosophila melanogaster is just one of tens of thousands of fruit fly species, each unique and special in its own way. We have no idea what role Drosophilids play in nature and they are a minor group within insects, which are the most abundant and significant animals on the Earth.

As we destroy coral reefs, forests and wetlands, we lose any possibility of even identifying what organisms there are, let alone how they interact to create a vibrant, productive community.

The Nobel prizes celebrate what we have learned and remind us how much more there is to discover.

Minden and area weather for October 1995

by Phil Graham

	C	F
Average high	13.8	56.8
Average low	4.4	39.9
Average for October	9.1	48.3
Average for last October	7.6	45.6
Highest Temperature (Oct. 13)	25.5	80.0
Lowest temperature (Oct. 17)	-5.0	23.0
Rain	170mm	6.6 in.
Snow	2 cm	1 in.
Total precipitation	172mm	6.7 in.
Total precip. October 1994	58.1mm	2.2
Days with rain or snow	15
Days mostly sunny	5

October was showing signs of fall after all the good summer weather. There was part of the month from October 9 to October 18, that was mostly sunny and warm - most enjoyable - but the latter part of the month was wet and cool.

There was much higher rainfall than normal, due to heavy rain on Octber 5, 14, 15, 20 and 27. The heavy rain on October 5 was due to the tail end of hurricane Opal.

All of these storms contributed to more than 6.5 inches of rain, compared to only two inches last October.

The average temperature was higher than October 1994. The rain, plus the fact that there were fewer frosty mornings compared to last October could have contributed to the higher average temperature.

Around the County Town

by Jeanne Sears (call 286-1538)

Just had a letter from Eleanor Pye formerly of The Terrace and she sends good wishes to all her friends of the past 13 years in Minden. If you would like her address or phone number I will happily pass it on. I also have an address for Hilda Harrison.

Best wishes to the following at Hyland Crest who are celebrating birthdays in November: Ellen Blair on 5th; Vera Barnhart on 14th; Agnes Mullin on 20th; Mary McKelvey on 24th; Bertha Hughes on 26th and Lillian Tompkins on 26th. They might like a call, visit or a card for their special day.

Just heard that Frank Fisher of Staanworth Court celebrated his 80th birthday recently and had several parties and outings for that special occasion - belated good wishes to him.

Winner at the Kinmount Legion Branch 441 50-50 draw on October 28 was Pat Tomlin who took home $128.25.

Helen Skelding from The Terrace, her daughter Janet and granddaughter Amy McMahon spent last Sunday with Helen's daughter Mary and her husband Bert Ruhl from Newcastle.

Christopher Robins of Stoney Creek was a recent visitor with his grandparents Kit and Ralph Schroter.

We hear that the CNIB Campaign in Ingoldsby, Lochlin, Donald and Gelert had a great response thanks to all the volunteers. What would we do without them?

Club 35 euchre game winners for October 30 included Kate Cline for the 50-50 draw, David Lamb with most lone hands, Kate Cline and Milt Fletcher with the highs and Helen Davis, Tom Pearson and Bill Cowan. Everyone is welcome to join in the euchre games every Monday at 7:30 p.m. No partners needed. Next Wheels to Meals dinner is November 7 at 12 noon.

Euchre game winners at RCL Branch 636 on October 26 were Sherin Brown and Norm Lee with most lone hands, Lila Mitchell and Milton Fletcher with the highs, Judith Merrit, Jack Chilton, Mary Wilson, Sherin Brown, Grace Dixon, May Bradbury and J. Dedman.

Sincere sympathy to the families and friends of the late Harold Heinze and Edith Pratt who passed away recently.

Weekend guests with Audrey and Bob Vick were Bill, Julie and Meighan Woolfey and Wayne Vick of Toronto.

Jerry and Ruby Schmidt spent a nice week visiting friends and relatives in Mildmay and Kincardine. After coming home they had a visit from Mina and Russ Carpenter from Hamilton

Hugh Allen spent an enjoyable time with Bob and Glenna Radmore in Olcott, New York last weekend.

Visiting Ruby Francis last weekend was her son Tom of Little Britain.

A year has gone by so quickly and I sure miss my great friend and adopted sister Jean Lacey who passed away November 6 last year.

Weekly winners Monday afternoon at St. Paul's euchre games October 30 included Nell Miscio, Verna McDonald (who also took the draw), Gladys Wruth and Marion Parker with most lone hands

Stanhope Bridge group winners for October 31 at 1 p.m. in Stanhope Library included Betty Skinner, Morris Hansen and Dorothy Strype. No partners are needed to join this happy group every Tuesday.

Euchre game winners October 31 at Lochlin Centre included Betty and Don Curry, Earl Schellenberg and May Hicks. Chris Hill had most lone hands. Next euchre games at Lochlin will be November 14 at 7:30 p.m.

Winners at Noble Wednesday night euchre games were Tom Milne, Bob Thompson and Kathy Milne with most lone hands. These games begin Wednesdays at 7:30 p.m. with everyone welcome.

Stanhope Centre weekly bid euchre games were held November 1 and with moonshots were Katie Parker, Pat Scadden, Bill Matthews, Jim Skinner (2), Harry Stuart, Brian Henderson (3), Jim Foster and Bob Lewis. High scores went to Ida Young, June Banning, Jean Hewitt, Brian Henderson, Pat Scadden, Grenville Griffin, Jean Scadden and Lottie Ruttan. The games begin each week at 7 p.m. with all welcome.

Kinmount Legion Branch 441 has a new Bonanza Bingo starting November 3. The Minden United Church Luncheon & Bazaar is Friday, Nov. 17 at 11:30 a.m.

Editor's Note: After many years of chronicling the comings and goings of the community, Jeanne Sears has announced she would like to retire from writing this column. We are currently seeking an individual who would be interested in taking on the responsibility. For more information contact Jeanne at the number above, or call the editor at 286-1288.

Mr. and Mrs. Nick Pawluch of Minden are pleased to announce the graduation of their daughter, Andrea Teressa Pawluch, from Innisdale Secondary School in Barrie. At the Commencement Ceremony held on Saturday, October 28th, Andrea received her Ontario Secondary School Diploma as well as her Ontario Academic Certificate (OAC) completing 6 or more OAC's. Andrea is continuing to attend Innisdale for an additional year to obtain 4 more OAC credits in Law, Politics and OAC French. Her future plans are to attend university majoring in Law.

CARDS OF THANKS

I would like to thank all our friends, neighbours and relations for all the flowers, cards, prayers, visits and food while I was in the Civic Hospital and since I came home. Thanks Leslie for doing my chores and getting meals. I would also like to thank Dr. Hayes from Haliburton Family Medical Centre and to the doctors and nurses in S.C.C. Civic Hospital. Last, but not least, my family Allan, Rick and David for all your love and concern. I love you all. God Bless.
Helen Hartwick.

Sincere thanks to our family for all their hard work and effort in hosting the Open House on October 28, to celebrate our 50th Wedding Anniversary. Thanks also to the many friends both near and far for their cards, gifts and well wishes and for coming to share our wonderful day.
We love you all,
Wanda and Garnet Davis.

IN MEMORIAM

SEARS, Milton - In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather who left us November 4, 1987.
A sadness still comes over us,
Tears, in silence often flow,
Memory keeps you ever near us,
Though you died those years ago.
Greatly missed by his wife Jeanne and family.

LACEY, Jean - In loving memory of my dear friend, Jean, who passed away after much illness November 6, 1994.
Nothing can ever take away
The love a heart holds dear;
Fond memories linger every day
Remembrance keeps her near.
Still miss you so very much, your loving ways and the help you gave to me all those years.
Your dear friend, Jeanne Sears.

ASH, Garnet - In loving memory of my dear husband who passed away November 12, 1993.
God saw you getting tired
when a cure was not to be.
So He closed His arms around you
And whispered "Come to Me"
You didn't deserve what you went through
So He gave you rest
God's garden must be beautiful
He only takes the best.
And when we saw you sleeping
So peaceful and free from pain,
We could not wish you back again
To suffer that again.
Will always be remembered by wife Dorothy and families.

SEARS, G. Milton - In loving memory of our dear father, grandfather and great-grandfather who left us November 4, 1987.
So many things have happened,
Since you were called away,
So many things to share with you
Had you been left to stay.
Every day in some small way
Memories of you come our way.
Though absent you are ever near,
Still missed, still loved and always dear.
Sadly missed by Carolynn and Reg Leaman and family.

LACEY, Jean - In loving memory of a dear mother, grandmother and great grandmother who died November 6, 1994.
You left us for a better place,
But we know you are still watching
With every day that passes
The pain seems to be easing
It's still so hard to believe that you're gone
There's still so many things we need to say
But the most important is
WE LOVE YOU.
Jim, Jeunne, David, Carole, Jamie, Stephanie and Theresa.
